

DRIVING SUSTAINABILITY CAREERS FOR WOMEN IN BUSINESS:

ONLINE MENTORSHIP PROGRAMME

BECOME A MENTOR AND HELP SHAPE THE FUTURE OF SUSTAINABILITY CAREERS

Are you a sustainability practitioner passionate about sustainable future?

We invite you to be part of our exciting online mentorship project!

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Through a focused online mentorship programme, we aim to empower female students with the guidance, skills, and confidence they need to thrive in the sustainability sector. Funded by the British Council, this project promotes gender equality by seeking to address the gap between female students' aspirations and the realities of sustainability-related careers in business.

WHY WE NEED YOU

As an industry expert, your knowledge and lived experiences are invaluable. By becoming a mentor, you'll have the opportunity to support small groups of female students through an online mentorship programme between September and October 2025.

This is a chance to share your career journey, offer practical advice, and help future business professionals navigate the challenges and opportunities of working in sustainability.

MAKE AN IMPACT

Your involvement will directly contribute to reducing gender disparities in our industry and help build a more inclusive, skilled, and resilient sustainability workforce. Together, we can inspire and uplift the next generation of female sustainability leaders and play a part in creating a future that's not only sustainable but also equitable.

APPLY TO BE A MENTOR
NOW!

Apply by 10 August 2025
<https://lncn.ac/scgementor>

Help us to create pathways for talented young women in sustainability. Your mentorship could be the spark that lights the way.

The project is part of collaboration between:

The University of Lincoln (UK), the North-West University (South Africa), University of Cape Coast (Ghana), Botswana Accountancy College (Botswana), and Monash University (Australia).

Funded by

Supported by funding from the British Council's Going Global Partnerships programme.

Going Global Partnerships supports universities, colleges and wider education stakeholders around the world to work together towards stronger, equitable, inclusive, more internationally connected higher education, science and TVET.